

CRUISING OUT OF BOSTON

This summer or fall, you may notice scores of happy visitors with sunburned smiles and wind tussled hair, fresh off blue-seas adventures, getting their land legs back as they explore the city's natural beauty, culture, cuisine, shopping, history and nightlife.

These intrepid travelers are part of a cruise vacation wave of visitors who pass through Flynn Cruiseport Boston from March through November, embarking on some cool adventures aboard a splendid cruise ship.

Many of them are heading off to visit charming cities in Canada, relax on the pink sand beaches of Bermuda or enjoy New England's brilliant coastline foliage. They also spend time in Boston, one of North America's most fascinating cities. Visitors love to explore the Boston Freedom Trail, JFK Library, North End and Harvard Square, or venture to Salem, Gloucester, Plymouth and other parts of Massachusetts.

A well-known advantage of cruising out of Boston is having one of the best airport-to-cruiseport proximities in the United States, with Boston Logan International Airport just about four miles away from Flynn Cruiseport.

after South Boston native and former US Ambassador Raymond L. Flynn, who established Cruiseport in 1986 when he was mayor of Boston. Since 1986, over 7 million passengers cumulatively have traveled through Flynn Cruiseport Boston.
